"The devil is afraid of us when we pray and make sacrifices. He is also afraid when we are humble and good. He is especially afraid when we love Jesus very much. He runs away when we make the Sign of the Cross."

~ St. Anthony of the Desert, Abbot
Feast Day: January 17

Prior to the 1937 renovation there were two chapels inside the Cathedral. These altars were on either side of the sanctuary, an altar dedicated to Mary on the east side and one dedicated to Joseph on the west side. When the church was renovated in 1937, St. Mary was moved to the west side and St. Joseph was moved to the east side. Currently the chapels are Mary on the east side and the chapel on the west side is the reconciliation chapel.

The entrance to each chapel was made through columns where the altars were set off from the rest of the church by black iron grillwork and gates. There were heavy black drapes that were a backdrop for the white columns. Before the 1937 renovation the sacristy was where the current candle room is located, between the annunciation chapel and the main sanctuary.

The St. Joseph chapel had a marble altar made of Carrera marble by Tomassi Studios in Italy. The altar stone contained the relic of the martyr Mansuetus. There was a small tabernacle on the St. Joseph altar that in the 1970's was used only for reservation of the eucharist for special occasions such as Holy Thursday. In the mid 1970's daily mass was celebrated in the St Joseph chapel. The Carrera marble statue of Joseph and the child Jesus were in the St. Joseph chapel. That statue is now near the baptismal font.

On the wall behind the statue there were five oil paintings on canvas depicting scenes from the life of the Holy Family: finding Jesus in the temple, the flight into Egypt, the birth of Jesus, the workshop of Joseph in Nazareth and the death of St. Joseph.

In 1937 the St. Mary chapel replaced the altar boy sacristy and the second floor choir room that were part of the original floor plan. The altar was also made of marble from Carrera, Italy and contained the relic of St. Bonosus. In this chapel was the art glass window depicting the scene from the childhood of Mary, where she is being instructed in the faith of the Jewish people by her mother St. Ann. That window is still there today. There was a statue of Mary standing above the world looking down with loving concern on the people of the world seen in the painting behind the statue. The painting had figures representing men, women and children of every race of people in the world. There were angels on either side of the altar bringing glad tidings to the shepherds of the birth of Jesus. Over the statue were the words "Ave Maria, Ora Pro Nobis"- Hail Mary, Pray for Us. The words "Salve Regina" were painted on the wall reinforcing the theme of her queenship.
